

WHERE DOES THE ROAD LEAD FROM HERE?

The 2892 Route 66 storytellers conclude their StoryMap with this question: "What story does each mile of these roads tell about who we are and what we are becoming?" Consider all that you have learned about the impact that roads can have on landscapes and communities, then imagine how young people like you might build better paths forward.

What can you do right now to learn more about the history of your community?

What can you do right now to support those in your community whose history has been neglected?

What can you do right now to take action to better your community for everyone?

What can you do right now to ensure a better future for your community?
